JEWELRY STORE DAMAGED BY FIRE

A Lighted Cigar Stump May Have Caused Blaze

William Sears Cut Off From Escape By Blaze and Rescued By the Firemen.

LOSS ABOUT THREE THOUSAND

Half suffocated with smoke and perspiring from every pore in his skin, William Sears, jeweler in W. N. Warren's jewelry store, 403 Broadway, was awakened this morning at 3 o'clock in his room back of the store, with every avenue of escape cut off. A fiercely burning fire had him cut off from the street, but fortunately the telephone was accessible and fire company No. 1 arrived within a few minutes after he telephoned in an alarm. It was not until after the fire had been fought down by chemicals, an excellent piece of work on the part of Captain Joe Collins and his company, that Sears was able to leave his prison.

Mr. Sears sleeps in the rear of the store and when he was awakened the fire had gained great headway. It started in a closet in the middle of the front half of the store, and was burning clear across the ceiling. Paper boxes stored in the closet and other combustible material added fuel to the fire. It was one of the hottest small fires the No. 1 company has ever fought.

Warren carried $3,500 insurance and estimates his loss at $2,500. His show cases, and, in fact, every glass in his store was cracked and his equipment ruined. The building proper was not damaged in excess of $200. It is owned by Miss Pauline Houston and fully insured.

Dr. L. L. Smith, a partner of Dr. Horace Rivers, sleeps in his office directly above the jewelry store and was awakened by smoke and the heat. He rushed down stairs into the street in his pajamas. His office equipment was not damaged aside from the lingering scent of smoke.

The Warren fire is of mysterious origin. An examination shows that it could not have caught from an electrical wire, and it is presumed it originated from a cigar stump carelessly thrown near the closet.

MAY MAKE ARREST OF RAILROAD MEN

New York, Feb. 18.—Prosecution on the charge of manslaughter of several high officials of the New York Central railroad is regarded as probable as a consequence of the wreck of the Brewster express on the Harlem division of the road Saturday night, resulting in the death of 22 and injury of 150 passengers. Developments at coroner's inquest will definitely determine whether the prosecutions will be ordered.

Another report is current today that the wreck Saturday night was due to train wreckers. Men, not employees, were seen on the track where the wreck occurred shortly before the accident. An investigation is being made.

GOOD AMATEUR TEAMS ASSURED THIS SUMMER.

Yesterday's ideal weather revived interest among local baseball fans, and Messrs. Charles Akers, Tom McGarrigal and Virge Berry, of the Illinois Central shops, set about arranging to organize teams. Mr. Berry will manage the L. A. L. team and Messrs. Akers and McGarrigal will doubtless take charge of a team to be named after a prominent Broadway merchant. There is enough good material in Paducah out of which to organize several strong amateur teams.

Church Musical.

A musical service was held last evening at the Trimble Street Methodist church. The program was very elaborate and was well carried out. The Rev. G. W. Banks spoke on "Church Music." An orchestra assisted in the music.

The Rev. J. W. Blackard, presiding elder of the Paducah district, held services yesterday at Lebanon, one of the charges in the Paducah city mission. There were large congregations present.

TO CHEAT GALLOWS.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 18.—Frank Hoffman, convicted as an accomplice in the murder of Clarence Myers, awaiting execution, stabbed himself twice this morning and was found in his cell unconscious. Hoffman was convicted and sentenced with Agnes Myers to be executed for the murder of the woman's husband.

THAW'S VALET GROOM.

Boston, Feb. 18.—As soon as he could get a clergyman and license James Morley, Harry Thaw's former valet, who arrived from Sweden to testify in the famous trial, married Miss Augusta Carlson, directly after the ceremony Morley and his bride went to New York to confer with Thaw's lawyers. Morley and Miss Carlson grew up together in Sweden.

OPPOSE BRYAN IDEA.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Twenty-nine Democratic senators and representatives were interviewed on the subject of government ownership of railroads, the sufficiency of the present interstate commerce laws and the necessity of a plank on the subject in the next Democratic platform. All but one were against government ownership. The exception is Representative De Armond, of Missouri.

MILLIONS STARVE.

Washington, Feb. 18.—"Twenty million Russian peasants are suffering from famine and three millions are on the verge of starvation," declares Nicholas Schickoff, of the United Zens-tva Famine Relief association of Samar, Russia, who is here. Schickoff is conferring with the Russian ambassador.

BAD TO WORSE.

New York, Feb. 18.—Police are looking for a gang of wire tappers, who are said to have swindled Walker, treasurer of the New Britain, Conn., Savings bank out of $350,000. It is claimed Walker put up the money to bent the pool rooms, after losing a quarter of a million in Wall street speculation.

JAP BILL CARRIES.

Washington, Feb. 18.—A test vote in the house this afternoon indicates the prospective adoption of the Japanese exclusion proposition by a vote of 160 to 101 on a motion carried, laying on the table an appeal from the speaker's decision that the Japanese amendment was properly inserted in the Immigration bill by the house and senate conferees.

IROQUOIS FIRE CASE.

Danville, Ill., Feb. 18.—"Not guilty" is the plea of Will J. Davis, manager of the Iroquois theater of Chicago, made today to Judge Kimbrough in circuit court of Vermillion county. The specific case against Davis is the death of Iva Jackson in the Iroquois fire.

GRAIN MARKET.

Chicagoo, O., Feb. 18.—Wheat, 79 1-2; corn, 48; oats, 44 1-2.

DE ARMOND WILL LEAD

FIGHT AGAINST WILLIAMS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—Opposition to the continuation of the Democratic leadership in the house by the Hon. John Sherr Williams, which heretofore has had a more or less indeterminate existence, has finally crystallized around DeArmond of Missouri, who today gave official sanction to the movement to use him as a battering ram to break down the Williams fortifications.

QUASHES FAVORIT INDICTMENT

Judge Sustains Motion in Murder Case Against Lonsbun Man.

Baton Rouge, La., Feb. 18.—The motion to quash the indictment against Congressman-elect Favrot, charged with murder, was sustained today by Favrot's successor on the bench, Judge Brunot.

There is only one kind of a newspaper circulation statement that is worth any consideration and that is the daily detailed statement. The Sun is the only Paducah paper printing such a statement.

THAW SUSPECTED HIS ATTORNEYS

Said Expert Evans on Stand This Morning

Prisoner Told Him It Was Providence Urged Killing of White in Public Place.

DELMAS IS STILL IN CHARGE.

New York, Feb. 18.—When the Thaw trial opened this morning Juror Bolton took his place in the jury box. Dr. Evans, who was on the stand when the case adjourned last Thursday, was called to detail the conversation had with Thaw. Jerome objected to the introduction of the conversation from memory, but it was overruled. Evans testified that Thaw said to him during one of his visits to the Tombs: "I never wanted to shoot this man. The creature was a blackguard. I never wanted to kill him. I had no desire to kill this vile creature, which was devouring the daughters of Americans. It was Providence. I wanted him to suffer humiliation publicly. I went to see Comstock and Jerome's detectives and got no real assistance."

The witness also said Thaw said his lawyers at that time and Jerome were trying to railroad him to the madhouse, because they were White's friends.

Lawyer McPike, Judge Delmas' partner left the court room soon after court opened. It was reported he has quit the case, chagrined at the criticism heaped upon him by other attorneys for his discussion of the case and by the statement in the morning papers voicing Mrs. Thaw's disapproval of his action.

Delmas Wins.
Late last night it was stated that through the intercession of Mrs. William Thaw, mother of Harry K. Thaw, the dissection between the counsel which yesterday threatened a disruption of the forces of the defense had ceased, and that D. M. Delmas, the California lawyer, will continue as the principal examiner of witnesses and make the closing plea for the defense. It is added that Delmas' law partner, Henry T. McPike will not figure actively in the future proceedings.

TWO CARS WRECKED AND ENGINE DAMAGED.

Two cars were wrecked and a switch engine badly damaged in the Illinois Central south yards this morning shortly before daylight. Switch engine No. 85, and a cut of cars crashed into a train being made up near the water tank in the south yards and turned one car over. The wrecker was secured to clear the tracks and it required several hours.

FOUR MEN KILLED IN TUNNEL BLOW-UP

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 18.—Four men were instantly killed at 6:35 o'clock this morning by the explosion of 25 pounds of dynamite in No. 6 tunnel on the Louisville & Nashville railroad, six miles south of this place, where contractors were constructing a double tunnel. The dead are: Foreman Hugh Sutton, Frank Boyles and two negroes. Another negro received probably fatal injuries. It is claimed that the men were thawing out dynamite before a fire and one stick with a percussion cap exploded when exposed to the heat. The killed and injured were horribly mangled.

Count de Massiney Here.

Count P. de Massiney, of Chicago, is in the city today on business, and is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Victor Voris at their home on West Broadway. He is representing his own vineyards of France in this country. Count de Massiney is a nephew of Mrs. Annette Cheney, of St. Louis, who has been the guest of her friend Mrs. Voris, here on several occasions. Mrs. Cheney is now in the Philippines visiting her son, an officer of the United States army there.

Nuisance Charge.

The case against the Southern Peanut company for maintaining a nuisance at its plant was continued. Engineer John Holmes, of the water plant, swears that dust from the factory creates a nuisance.

LANE DISMISSED IN CIRCUIT COURT

Popular Magistrate, Charged With Contracting With the County While Member of Fiscal Court, Exonerated

TEAMS HIRED ON THE ROADS.

W. E. Lane, magistrate of the Fifth district, was acquitted this morning of the charge of contracting for county road improvements, while a member of the fiscal court. The evidence was submitted on facts as attested by those concerned.

Magistrate Lane is well known and popular. Two terms ago he was indicted for the alleged contracting for county road improvements. It grew out of the fact that he was working teams on the county roads. The evidence showed that he simply hired his teams at common labor prices, and the court "being sufficiently advised" dismissed the case. By agreement the jury right was waived.

Mr. Lane's many friends will be pleased to learn that had been placed right before the public.

SENATE RACE

Is Warning Up and Graves Has a Candidate.

Mayfield, Ky., Feb. 18.—Politics is beginning to warm up here even at this early date. Sam Norton, John R. Ray, of this county, and Mike Taylor, of Fulton, are candidates for the state senate. A convention has been called at Fulton, March 14, to nominate a candidate. Mr. Ray said this afternoon that he was a candidate until the November election unless the convention was put off a reasonable time. J. E. Warren, a young attorney; Leon Evans, a druggist, and Houston Brooks, a school teacher, are all candidates for the legislature in this county. W. B. Standfield, a young attorney of the city, is expected to announce Monday, and probably J. W. Usher, of this county, will also announce. A primary election will probably be called to nominate a candidate for this office.

Bailey Will Be Exonerated.

Austin, Tex., Feb. 18.—The Bailey investigating committee will probably finish its work this week. It is stated that from the evidence so far adduced a majority of the committee will make a report to the legislature exonerating Senator Bailey from the charges that were filed against him.

Baku Governor Killed.

Baku, Feb. 18.—The governor of the port was murdered today.

NEW COUNCILMAN FOR FIFTH WARD

George O. Shelton Hands in His Resignation

Found City's Business Demands More Attention Than He Can Afford to Give.

LOWER BOARD MEETS TONIGHT

What seems to be an authentic report has it that Councilman George O. Shelton, of the Fifth ward, will resign his seat in the lower board of the general council, and that Mayor Yeiser will name his successor tonight. Eugene Tuttle, contracting carpenter, of 1246 South Seventh street, is mentioned as his successor, and Mayor Yeiser, when questioned this afternoon, said that it is true, the resignation of Councilman Shelton has been mentioned and he has been petitioned to name Mr. Tuttle. Whether he will or not, he declined to say.

It is expected that several new measures, some of them having to do with sanitation, will come before the council board tonight. An ordinance prohibiting steam whistles blowing within the city limits longer than ten seconds, will be introduced.

Councilman Shelton stated this afternoon that he has tendered his resignation to Mayor Yeiser. Business responsibilities, he says, prevent him devoting the time necessary to the city's business, without slighting his own affairs.

METHODIST MINISTERS

Meet and Form an Organization for City.

The Methodist ministers of the city and adjacent churches met this morning at 10 o'clock at the Broadway Methodist church and organized to meet on the Mondays following the first and third Sundays of each month. The body will discuss affairs pertaining to the work both general and in detail. The Rev. J. W. Blackard, presiding elder of the Paducah district is chairman of the association, and the Rev. W. J. Naylor, of the Paducah City Mission, is the secretary. The subject to be discussed at the next meeting will be "The Greatest Needs of the Churches in Paducah," and the Rev. G. W. Hanks, of the Trimble street church, will present the topic.

G. R. DAVIS WILL ANNOUNCE SOON

It is now only a matter of inclination when Mr. G. R. Davis will announce as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for mayor. It was stated on incontrovertible authority this afternoon that Mr. Davis will be a candidate in the primary. Mr. T. B. Harrison the only candidate who has announced, expressed entire satisfaction with the political situation this afternoon and seemed to think the indecision of the other prospective candidates as a factor in his favor. The intimate friends of Col. Charles Reed cannot tell whether he will be a candidate and it was stated that Mr. Noble would not think of entering the race. W. V. Eaton has finally determined not to be a candidate for representative. Eugene Graves is being pressed hard to be a candidate by some of the political leaders in the Democratic party.

CORONER BUSY.

Two Cases in Which People Die Without Physicians.

Called from his bed at 12 o'clock last night Coroner Frank Eaker found Mary Anderson, colored, dying of congestion of the stomach without the attention of a physician. The woman expired before a physician arrived. She was 57 years old and lived at 619 Tennessee street. She leaves several relatives in Paducah and the body was turned over to Undertaker Andy Watkins, colored, for burial.

Coroner Frank Eaker was called to 1108 Harrison street at 1:30 o'clock this morning. The infant of Mattie O'Neill, colored, died of pneumonia without a physician. The body was turned over to Undertaker Andy Watkins, colored.

THEATRICAL NOTES

At The Kentucky.
Wednesday night—Harry Beresford in "The Woman Hater." Thursday night—"Papa's Boy." Friday night—"The College Widow."Papa's Boy.
Next Thursday night at The Kentucky
"Papa's Boy," a musical comedy success, will hold the boards for one night only. The company includes 20 pretty show girls, that can sing, dance and pose. The comedy is a satire on social life, with the scene laid in the Hotel Astorville. The piece is of the rollicking kind, and there are plenty of good musical numbers, with tuneful music.Harry Beresford.
Manager J. J. Coleman has engaged an excellent company to support Harry Beresford in David D.
Lloyd's eccentric comedy, "The Woman Hater" this season. Miss Helen Travers will be the leading comedienne.
Miss Margaret Lee will be the character comedienne and Miss Mildred Johnson will be the ingenue. It is rather remarkable that every part in this play is a comedy part for even comedies often harbor a villain and other serious roles. William C. Andrews will be the principal character comedian in support of Mr. Beresford.
Otto F. Andrie will essay the eccentric character comedy role and H. H. Sleight will have a character comedy part. Edwin Belden will be the light comedian and he is said with due reverence, his good looks will please the ladies. Harry Creighton will portray a character role and inst but not least C. V. O. Pugh will strive to amuse in a similar character.
Harry Beresford in "The Woman Hater" will be the attraction at The Kentucky next Wednesday night.College Widow.
"The College Widow," that sweetly gracious being who presides over the destinies of the under-grads, at once the despair and admiration of the entire student body, will be seen at The Kentucky on Friday night. Since Henry W. Savage first produced this satire by George Ade on college life, "The Widow" has moved from city to city with an ever growing train of admirers, and so strong has been the demand for her presence all over the country that it has been necessary to organize and equip three different companies to meet the booking demand of the various managers from Maine to the Pacific Coast. The vivacious piquancy of "The Widow"; the breezy, off-hand good fellowship of the Athletic Girl; the quaint mannerisms of the boarding house keeper's daughter; the jaunty chaperon, and the careless, mischievous students, furnish material for mirth provoking situations which Mr. Ade has utilized in his own inimitable way. The football scene in the third act is one of the masterpieces of modern stagecraft, and in the absorbing interest of the game the beholder is carried away by the enthusiasm of the grandstand and can hardly contain himself until the great Billy Bolton wins the game for Atwater and is carried from the field on the shoulders of his wildly cheering classmates.
And during the celebration of the victory, even those who are not athletic enthusiasts cannot repress a thrill of sympathy as the singing, cheering students parade in front of the village inn. Mr. Savage has ex-

NEW YORK LETTER.

New York, Feb. 18.—I see that both Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Goodwin take pains to enter a denial of the statement published in this correspondence a week ago to the effect that their business relations were severed and that in all probability their personal and matrimonial affair would presently follow suit. In spite of this double denial let me reiterate that I have it upon unimpeachable authority that Mr. Goodwin is no longer a partner in the tours of Maxine Elliott and that his withdrawal from that combination was made greatly against his will;
that he disapproves most vigorously of the prominence given by Miss Elliott's management to the leading man of her supporting company, to whom Mr. Goodwin in confidential moments refers with a baleful glitter in his eyes as "that English duffer;" and that if it were not for the great disadvantage falling upon a man going to law against his beautiful and accomplished spouse over a matter of mere money, Goodwin would unhesitatingly bring suit for a restoration of his financial interests in his wife's business. It may be, and doubtless is, good policy from a commercial point of view for both Mr. and Mrs.
Goodwin through their agents to dispute the existence of such a situation as the one here described. Nevertheless the facts are precisely as narrated and there is no such thing as getting away from them, however desirable such a possibility might be.The production of "Genesee of the Hills," a dramatization of one of the most delightful of all American stories ("Told in the Hills," by Marah Ellis Ryan), was not received at the Astor theater with all the cordality it was entitled to when the first New York presentation was made on Monday evening. The play is interesting throughout and it reflects in atmosphere as well as incident the novel that first brought national fame to Mrs. Ryan. It may be that we have had a surfeit of frontier dramas during the past few months. Or possibly the audience wasn't in the spirit to catch the warmth and color of the play. At any rate it did not evoke the hearty response that had been looked for and that may come to it with the familiarity of repetition. I am speaking now of the conduct of the regular first nighters, who were out in force, and who sometimes make the most extraordinary errors of judgment. For instance, on the first performance of the present entertainment at Weber's Music Hall they brought in a unanimous verdict of failure and accompanied their finding with practically unlimited ridicule.
The show, however, not alone survived this treatment, but immediately developed into the biggest financial success ever known in the Weber playhouse, constantly puzzling the management to account for the increase in receipts which had already been believed to represent the outside capacity of the auditorium.
So you see a first night on Broadway isn't always a true test, and I dare say it will not be so in the case of "Genesee of the Hills." This is no endeavor to boost "Genesee," but merely a reflection or so upon what seems to be a much better play than a good many others that have won the unqualified approval of New York.The old story that "It's an ill wind," etc., has its newest illustration at the expense of Mrs. Leslie Carter, who was to have played a long spring engagement at the Hudson theater but was prevented from doing so as the result of a bitter quarrel with Edward Milton Royle, the author of her play, Frederic Thompson, as it happened, and as already told in these letters, had been making earnest but ineffectual efforts to find a New York theater into which to remove his immensely successful "Brewster's Millions," at the end of the time allotted to this piece at the New Amsterdam. The severance of contracts between Mrs.
Carter and the Hudson management just fitted into the desires of Mr.
Thompson, and so, instead of going out upon the circuits with his comedy-drama, he will continue the period of this work in the metropolis for months to come. It is said that Mr.
Thompson's tenancy of the Hudson is to last for a year at least, and there really does not seem to be any reason why it shouldn't do so, for "Brewster's Millions" has caught the fancy of the public in a manner that cannot be disputed.Reference to Mrs. Leslie Carter enables me to mind the impression that the actress must find her professional road rather more thorny than when she was guided along the paths of ease and affluence by David Belasco.
In those days she was paramountamong the Belasco attractions, and everything and everybody else gave way before her. Plays were modeled to fit every quality among her characteristics, productions were put forward upon an utterly reckless scale of expenditure, and in a word the success of this individual artist was the foremost. If not the only, thought of the management. At present Mrs.
Carter finds herself under direction, which, although not a wait the less concessions in its devotion, is the possession of so many other interests that it cannot afford to sidetrack everything else in favor of any one attraction. Thus when she refuses to play her new drama as the author has written it, and the author declines to permit alterations, she finds herself with a season more than half gone and no sense of security regarding what remains.It is now a settled fact that Miss Eleanor Robson will remain for another entire season at the Liberty theater, arrangements to that end having been definitely closed between Messrs. Liebler & company, managers of Miss Robson, and Klaw & Branger, proprietors of the theater. This conclusion will enable the continuance of "Salome Jane" throughout the remainder of the present theatrical term, and will give Miss Robson an opportunity beginning next fall to complete her original intention of producing nine or ten separate plays, thus providing a repertoire altogether unheard of in association with so young a star. Probably the first offering of the autumn after "Salome Jane" shall have been revived as a preliminary measure, will be Edmond Rostand's poetical drama designed for Miss Robson's individual use. This play will be presented upon a scale of splendor seldom duplicated, and it will be followed from time to time by the remainder of the new productions held in reserve by Liebler & Co. "Salome Jane" meanwhile is serving to pack the theater at every representation.It seems likely that David Warfield's receipts in "The Music Master" during the four weeks' run of that comedy drama at the Academy of Music will reach, if not exceed, the astounding total of $38,000.Mrs. Langtry was surprised the other night—and said so—when she dropped into the Belasco theater toward the end of the evening to notice how many of the women in the audience were in full evening dress.
The English actress remarked that the sight reminded her of the stalls in a London theater. Very likely with the exception that there are only a few rows of stalls in the London theaters where the women dress with punctilious regard for the conventions, while at the Belasco the "stalls" run from the footlights to the extreme rear of the house. It is entirely true that they are filled by full dress audiences, for the Belasco with the "The Rose of the Rancho" is beyond doubt the home of elegance.Paula Edwards may decide to produce her new comic opera for a trial spin about Easter time. This would give the clever little comedienne an opportunity in the first instance to decide upon the value of her property, and in the second to make any changes in score and libretto that might suggest themselves as being beneficial. Still farther, should the new work prove to do all that is anticipated for it, there will be no difficulty in securing for it a continuous route for the following season, a situation that has marred the hope of more than one well established star during the past fall and winter. One must be forehanded nowadays.

Aye and No Justice.

In the early days of Minnesota there was elected justice of the peace a man who pretended to no judicial attainments, and was elevated to the place solely because he was the eldest man in the community.
The first case which came before him was that of a man charged with stealing a calf. The justice was conscious of his legal inexperience, so in order to avoid the scrutiny of the public he put down the hearing for the next morning at 7 o'clock. This was so early that when the time arrived the prosecuting attorney was not on hand, and the prisoner faced only the sheriff and the prisoner and his lawyer."Gentlemen, you will please come to order," said the court, thumping on the table with his fist.

The lawyer arose and said: "Your Honor, I represent the prisoner in this case. This is the hour at which the court was announced to open, and, as the prosecuting attorney is not present, as he ought to be, I desire to make a motion that the prisoner be discharged." The lawyer nudged his client vigorously with his elbow. "I second the motion," blurted out the prisoner."Gentlemen, you have heard the motion," said the court. "As many of you as are in favor of it signify by saying 'aye.'""Aye," called out the lawyer and the prisoner.

"Contrary minded, 'no.'"

"No," shouted the sheriff.

"The 'ayes' have it. The prisoner is discharged."—Exchange.Attention to small things is the

We Offer $1,000.

For a Disease Germ That Liquezone Cannot Kill.

This offer goes out with every bottle of Liquezone. Do you suppose we would do that if any known germ could resist it?Liquezone is for those who believe that a germ disease calls for a germicide; that the germs must be killed before the trouble can end. You have doubtless tried the old ways, and you know the results. We ask you to try the new way; to try it at our expense.
Use what millions have used and learn what they know about it. You are not fair to yourself until you do that.

What Liquezone Is.

Liquezone is a tonic-germicide, the virtues of which are derived solely from oxido gases. No alcohol, no narcotic, nothing but gas enters into it. The process of making requires large apparatus, and consumes 14 days' time.
The object is to combine the gases with a liquid as to carry their virtues into the system.The result is a germicide so certain that we publish with every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that Liquezone cannot kill. It destroys them because germs are of vegetable origin. But to the body Liquezone is exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying.
That is its main distinction. Common germicides are poisons when taken internally. They are impossible, forthey destroy the tissues as well as the germs. That is why medicine proves so helpless in dealing with germ diseases. Liquezone, on the contrary, acts as a remarkable tonic.

We Paid $100,000.

For the rights to Liquezone, after thousands of tests had been made with it, after its power had been demonstrated for more than two years in the most difficult germ diseases. Conditions which had resisted medicine for years yielded at once to it, and diseases considered incurable were cured.That was five years ago. Since then millions of people in every part of the world have shared in the benefits of this invention. Nearly every hamlet, every neighborhood, has living examples of its power. Now we ask you to let it do for you what it did for them.

Germ Diseases.

Most of our sicknesses, in late years, been traced to germ attacks.
Some germs—as in skin troubles—directly attack the tissues. Some create toxins, causing such troubles as rheumatism, Blood Poison, Kidney Disease and nerve weakness. Some destroy vital organs, as in Consumption. Some —like the germs of Catarrh—create inflammation; some cause indigestion.
In one of these ways, nearly every serious affliction is a germ result.Such conditions call for a germicide, not for common drugs. Liquezone does what other means cannot accomplish.
And it is wrong to cling to old ways when millions of people know a way that is better.

50c Bottle Free.

If you wish to know what Liquezone does please send us this coupon. We will then mail you an order on a local "Directed toward the enjoyment of

SOUTH AND IMMIGRATION.

President Roosevelt has carried his point again and Japanese coolies will be prevented from further operation of their trick of entering Manila or Honolulu with passports and then sailing from there to San Francisco. The only opposition to the immigration came from a few southern senators, who, headed by Tillman, raised the objection that a clause in the bill would prohibit the southern states from encouraging immigration.

A careful study of the clause fails to substantiate this objection, which seems to have been raised primarily by the cotton mill men of South Carolina, who moved their factories there from New England, ostensibly to be nearer the raw product, but really, we fear, to be farther away from the child labor agitation. This clause provides that no immigrant shall be allowed to remain, whose passage is paid by anyone other than a personal friend or member of his family, or who comes under specific contract for work. The object of the clause is obvious—to prevent manufacturers from importing the riff-raff of southern Europe and oriental coolies to reduce the standard of wages of American working men. The objection of South Carolina cotton mill men, also, is easily understood, and behind those cotton mills are the New England capitalists who really own them. They have sent agents to Europe to personally solicit families to come over to this country, and their agents have offered bonuses to expert mill operatives. A ship load came over.

Why Senator Blackburn should take up the cotton mill men's fight, it is hard to understand, unless it be he has not made a careful study of the immigration question. Western Kentucky, we are sure, does not desire pauper immigrants. We are trying to induce self-supporting hardy agriculturalists, who can pay their own passage, to come to us. We have waste land for them to cultivate.
The immigration law cannot interfere with that enterprise.

As a matter of fact the stream of immigration is quite steady enough, and of sufficient volume without agents soliciting people to come, and certainly without agents soliciting that kind whose transportation has to be paid. Consider the kind of Americans that could be induced to try a venture in a new country by the offer of $50 bonus and a free ticket. Coxey's army would be reorganized in 30 days.

To bring the riff-raff of southern Europe, or any other part of Europe, to this country to settle in the cities, is only to aggravate a condition that is already a national peril. It is the colonization of these foreigners, with their foreign ways and foreign speech, in cities, in railroad camps and in the mining communities of mountainous Pennsylvania that is giving us trouble. Distribution, rather than limitation of immigration, will finally solve the problem, and the national government should establish a bureau to co-operate with those of the states to send the immigrants into the south and west, where they may be brought under the purest American influences.

Western Kentucky's movement is as patriotic as any ever instituted by any people. We want the best of the immigrants. This country is an asylum for the oppressed of other nations and people seeking home and freedom are always welcome. This kind of people we are inviting to come to western Kentucky to settle on our uncultivated land. Investigation has shown that these immigrants have a specific destination in view when they start for America.
Therefore, it is necessary to send agents to Europe, not to lure people from homes over there, but to advise them of the advantages of selecting homes in this section and directing those who intend coming to our country. There is nothing, as we can see, in the immigration measure prohibiting this, and nothing to prohibit a bureau at the port of entry co-operating with the agent in Europe and the people out here. It is in this work that the United States government should co-operate in order to distribute the immigrant population. This is a far different thing from importing cheap foreign labor.

There are certain facts from which only one deduction is possible and any attempt to reason otherwise is rejected by a rational mind. For instance, when one says that a man has but one love and one object in life, and that is the accumulation of dollars, and that he owns a bank, or a hotel or a store or real estate in a city, and then, predicates on these facts the conclusion that such a man does not desire the development of the city, we put down the one making the assertion as deficient either in intellect or honesty. If a man owns a bank in a city, anything that increases the population of the city, puts more money into the channels of local trade or conduces to its industrial development will naturally be desired by him, because all these things aid his business. If the city grows his bank will grow. If the city dwindles his business not only will dwindle, but it will be jeopardized.

Could one imagine a storekeeper hindering the industrial development of the city, or an increase in population or per capita wealth? Think of a person interested in a hotel or street railway doing anything to prevent the growth of a city? A man of that disposition would not have sense enough to accumulate the money with which to secure an interest in anything.

The Lexington Herald is the kind of prophet we would listen to in the hour of darkest doubt. The Herald says: "The trend today is away from the Republicans and toward Democracy." And this in spite of the fact, that the Republicans gained four congressmen in Kentucky at the last general election.

The Illinois legislature before it adjourns should pass a bill, limiting the number of buttons on ladies' kid gloves. This would aid the bachelors' tax in promoting matrimony.

IRISH MEASURES ARE OUTLINEDFull Details Lacking But Authentic Report OutCouncil Will Be Administrative Rather Than Legislative at First.

SEPARATION WILL BE TRIAL

London, Feb. 18.—William O'Brien the member of parliament from Cork City has outlined the impending Irish measure by which the government proposes to meet the growing demands for Irish rule. Mr. O'Brien wrote an explanation of the proposed measure as a means of giving Irishmen in America information upon this vital legislation in which they are interested. He said:

I am not in a position to speak with any authority of what the Irish devolution bill is likely to be. There are, however, certain lines upon which without any inner knowledge it may be predicted with some confidence that any minister is sure to travel if his bill is to have any chance of being accepted by the representatives of Ireland. In the first place it is certain that the bill will not be presented as a settlement of the Irish claim for self-government, but only as a preliminary experiment. Whatever arrangements may be proposed as to the present powers or constitution of the Irish council, they will be provisional and will be left open to enlargement in a period of ten years at the utmost, or as I hope and believe, five years. In the second place, the king's speech may be taken as defining the scope of the council's functions. They will be administrative and financial.
That is to say, they will embrace control of all the administrative departments known at present at "Dublin Castle" with the exception, I am afraid, of the Royal Irish constabulary and of the judiciary, and will, in addition, include the spending, although not the raising, of the greater part of Irish taxation.

The omission of the word "legislative" from the king's speech tells its own story. Except for private bill legislation it is not likely that the Irish bill will propose to entrust the council with legislative powers. It is probable, however, that the bill may be so amended as to enable the Irish council to pass upon at least one stage of all the Irish bills. Very likely the members of the government have not yet made up their minds finally between the various suggestions as to the constitution of the new body. One or two things, however, may be taken as certain. One is that the Irish representation in the imperial parliament will remain as at present and another is that the whole 103 Irish members of the imperial parliament will be ipso facto members of the new Irish council. It is certain that steps will be taken to give the wealthier unionist majority some special representation, whether by nomination or election on a restricted franchise.
It is no less certain, however, that any such arrangement while securing the adequate representation of the minority will leave the Irish council overwhelmingly Nationalist in its composition. The success or failure of the experiment will depend mainly upon the financial arrangements. It may be taken for granted that the principle first laid down in Windham's development of Ireland's grant will be specifically recognized, viz. that any savings made in the present enormous cost of the imperial establishments of police and the judiciary in Ireland shall become exclusively Ireland's property to be disposed of as the Irish council thinks fit. If the council is to be a success at least a million pounds sterling will have to be placed at its disposal yearly, the salvage and allotment revenue to be expended.

IN POLICE COURT

Several cases promising interesting developments drew many spectators to the city court room this morning. The docket was large but Police Judge D. A. Cross had disposed of all business by 10 o'clock.

Frank Just, a barber, was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to 20 days in the county jail for carrying concealed a deadly weapon. He is accused of having gone to Maude Sanderson's house on West Madison street, where Flossie Doyle was visiting and raising a disturbance, pulling a gun on the girls. He swore that what the girls thought was a pistol to have been a cash register wrench. An appeal was granted Just and the girls were recognized in the sum of $300 for their good behavior towards the barber, the Doyle woman being ordered to return home to her mother at Ninth and Tennessee streets.

The case against Charles Slaughter, charged with setting up a game of chance over Frank Just's barber shop on North Fourth street was continued. The place was raided Saturday night by Detectives Moore and Baker and an improvised gambling outfit confiscated. Judge Bensley, who is alleged to have been in partnership with Slaughter, is missing.

Frank Dunkinson, colored, for carrying concealed a deadly weapon, was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to 20 days in jail.

Mattie Sewell, colored, was fined $20 and costs for conducting a disorderly house.

Rodney Perkins, Ed Brown, Dora Berry, Beulah Caldwell and Hermann Sanders, colored, charged with robbing Byrd McKnight, colored, of $25, were granted a continuance.

Other cases: R. P. Griffith, Osenr Perrell, Lewis drunkenness, $1 and costs; Harry Fields, defrauding a boarding house, filed away; Josie Lilgon, Grace Cole, colored, breach of peace, $20 and costs each; Robert inaugurated by the services of the past week.

Dr. Bolling's Sermon.
Dr. W. T. Bolling's theme at the Broadway Methodist church last evening was "Missions," based on Matthew 13:38, "The World is the Field." He elaborated the thought that "the field is the world, the gospel the seed, and the church is the sower." That the opportunity is not lacking, he proved, by the oriental countries that were opening their doors wide to Christian civilization. This country has more money now than it knows what to do with, and with the field, the seed, the opportunity and the money, the church should now broadcast during the twentieth century. If the countries of heathendom have been taken for commerce what should not be done by the flag of Christ. If dollars can send men to work there the love of Christ should constrain his laborers to go. It is not a question with the heathen be saved, but if we neglect the command to send the gospel, will the church be saved.

The sermon was delivered at the request of the Woman's Foreign Missionary societies of this church, and in conclusion Dr. Bolling paid a tribute to the work of the women of

SPRING HATS

WE beg to announce to the public that we have just received our complete line of Spring Hats, and we respectfully invite your attention and extend an invitation to come and inspect our different styles

LOTTERY MEN ARE ARRESTED

Three of Accused Appear Before Commissioner and Give Bail.

New Orleans, Feb. 18.—C. W. Bre-dow, E. J. Demarest and W. J. Demarest appeared before the United States commissioner today and gave bail in $1,000 each to appear Monday to answer to violations of the anti-lottery law. Warrants also have been issued for W. L. Cabell, W. H.
Boullemet and James Ren. Secret service men charge that the accused men conspired in Puerto Cortez, Honduras, as administrators of the Honduras National Lottery company, to bring papers to the United States containing advertisements of names of people who had won prizes in the lottery drawings, and that they also conspired to send such lottery matter to Hartford, Conn., and to Chicago.

What Osteopathy Will Do.

There are but few people who have not heard of Osteopathy, also of some of its achievements. But there are far too many who have accredited it with being good for only those conditions from which they have been cured, or which have come under their observation. Not infrequently there is mutual surprise when one who was cured of rheumatism meets another who has been cured of asthma or constipation. This is a homely, but very true illustration.

Personally, I have cured chronic cases of constipation, rheumatism, asthma, nervousness, neuralgia and headaches for people whom you know well; and the value of the Osteopathic treatment is but coming generally known in Paducah, as it should be.

I should like to talk with you at any time about your particular case, and know I can cite you to some of your friends who will attest to what the treatment has done for them in similar diseases. Come to my office, 516 Broadway, or phone 1407 any time from 9 to 12 or 2 to 5 p. m.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

CELEBRATED IN SCHOOLS Washington's birthday will be generally observed in Paducah public schools Friday. The high school faculty has not yet decided whether any special exercises will be held, but many lower grades will have attractive programs. Tomorrow morning the high school orchestra will give a concert prior to the taking up of school. This will be the first concert in several weeks.

DOG AIDS "HUGGER" IN FIGHT Fierce Animal Attacks Citizens Who Capture Annoyer of Women.

Bloomington, Ill., Feb. 18.—The "Jack the Hugger," who for months has been frightening women and children on the streets of Bloomington, was arrested today after a fierce fight with a number of citizens, in which former Governor Joe Eiler took a prominent part. The fellow proved to be Wesley Greenlee, a young carpenter, who is said to be weak-minded. He was surprised, while annoying a number of little girls in a park. When the citizens seized him his shepherd dog rushed to his rescue, and it took several men to beat off the savage animal. Meanwhile Greenlee struggled like a maniac, but finally was overpowered.

Union of Methodists.
Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 18.—During an address last night at McKendree church on the West as a field for the Southern Methodist church, Bishop James Atkins eloquently urged the unity of at least the two leading branches of Methodism, the northern and southern churches. He also urged the expenditure of $1,000,000 on the Pacific coast by the Southern church as the longest step toward the suggested union. For the united church he advocated a new name, something like the Episcopal Methodist church or the United Methodist Church of America. As to its government he suggested a general council with supervision over matters of jurisdiction, etc., with four lesser councils, one for each section to have supreme control over matters of a nature local to the section, such as the race question. The late was the issue upon which Methodism divided in the forties.

Church Built From One Tree.
"A large Baptist church that stand in the city of Santa Rosa, Cal., enjoys the distinction of having been constructed entirely from a single tree," says the Technical World Magazine for March. "Of course, that includes the woodwork of the structure. The tree from which the timbers, lumber, and shingles were cut was a giant California redwood. A considerable quantity of the lumber was left over after the church building was completed."

"This building has a spire seventy feet high; a audience-room capable of seating 300; a parlor capable of seating eighty; a pastor's study fourteen by twenty feet, a vestibule and toilet room. The building is thirty-five by eighty feet. There are not many buildings in the country all the timber of which came from a single tree."

LARGE BAR OF IRON.
Drops From Nervous Woman's Blouse Waist.

If a strange woman who was evidently laboring under as much liquor as righteous anger, had met the object of her search last night there would doubtless have been another malicious assault case before Police Judge D. A. Cross this morning. She boarded a street car near Fourth and Broad streets at 11 o'clock last night. At every corner she would peer anxiously out of the window as if looking for some one. Under her shirt-waist she feverishly fingered something, and just before she left the car at Broadway the object fell from her nervous grasp. It was a large bar of iron. She picked it up and quickly left the car.

DOG OWNERS COMING IN TO PAY LICENSE ON PETS.
Today at noon Chief of Police James Collins instructed every policeman to secure the names of dog owners who have not paid a license tax on his pet. His announcement last week that he would do this and start a vigorous campaign against dog owners, served its purpose, and this morning many dog owners were present to pay taxes.

Chief of Police James Collins received a telegram this morning from Mrs. William Donnelly, at Chaffee, Mo., asking that her husband be notified of his baby's serious illness and to come home at once. The police have been unable to locate him.

MRS. C. E. FINK

is an honest, tried and true remedy of unquestionable therapeutic value. This medicine made from native roots and herbs contains no narcotics or other harmful drugs and today holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases of any medicine the world has ever known, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the laboratory at Lynn, Mass., which testify to its wonderful value.

Mrs. C. E. Fink, of Carnegie, Pa., writes:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—“I wish every suffering woman would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and write to you for advice. It has done me a world of good and what it has accomplished for me I know it will do for others.”

When women are troubled with irregularities, Displacements, Ulceration, Inflammation, Backache, Nervous Prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Out of her vast volume of experience she probably has the very knowledge that will help your case.

HEALTH OF WOMEN

In this nineteenth century to keep up with the march of progress every power of woman is strained to its utmost, and the tax upon her physical system is far greater than ever. In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers few drugs were used in medicines. They relied upon roots and herbs to cure weaknesses and diseases, and their knowledge of roots and herbs was far greater than that of women today.

It was in this study of roots and herbs that Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., discovered and gave to the women of the world a remedy more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

“A Royal Pathway” Subject of Sermon of Dr. W. E. Cave

“I HAVE TAUGHT THEE IN THE WAY OF WISDOM; I HAVE LED THEE IN THE RIGHT PATHS.”—PROV. IV-11.

“How many fathers, writing to their sons, can say this truthfully?” asked the Rev. W. E. Cave by way of preface to his sermon on “A Royal Pathway” at the First Presbyterian church last night.

“The text comprehends the two fundamental principles in bringing up a child—precept and example. Solomon said: ‘I have taught thee in the way of wisdom; I have led thee in the right paths.’ He had not only taught his children, but he had led them.”

“A parent may secure obedience from his children by command up to a certain point, but after that they must be led. A father may say, ‘Go to Sunday school,’ and for a time the children obey; but after awhile they

Speaking of the two paths in life Dr. Cave suggested that it is easy for the child at first, because the paths are one. Then they diverge and form the letter “Y,” and if they might be considered as projected until both paths—the right and the wrong—reach eternity, the comparison between them might be understood. Just after they diverge, crossing from the right to the wrong and back again is easy because the paths lie close together, but later in life they are wider apart, and then it becomes more and more difficult for one to leave his chosen course for the other, until finally it is impossible to change.

His Brother's Stomach Sewed Up in Him; Holds Surgeon Responsible

Cleveland, Feb. 18.—Peter Jordan, fairly well dressed, but lacking funds, is hastening to that dear Philadelphia as fast as freight trains and sympathetic brakemen will take him. He wants his stomach. His brother has it.

Jordan told Police Judge Whelan today that if necessary he would repudiate that part of his internal mechanism. His trouble, so far as Cleveland is concerned, started when he told Judge Whelan today that the reason he had been haled into court was that he had stomach trouble. Jordan exhibited all the symptoms of a man afflicted with a bad attack of “the morning after.”

“That stomach trouble gag is old,” said the judge. “That is no excuse for drinking. Five dollars and costs and thirty days in—”

“May it please the court,” interrupted Jordan, “you cannot justly imprison a man because his brother's stomach led him astray.” Then he told the story.

He and his brother John lived in Philadelphia, and both were stricken with stomach trouble and went to a hospital for treatment. “John was addicted to liquor and used cuss words,” said Jordan. “I was a church member and a teetotaler. While we were unconscious in the hospital and were being operated upon, the boiler, or something else, exploded, and the doctors and nurses ran out and left us. Not much damage was done by the explosion, and they came back.”

“We both got better, and later I found I had contracted the liquor habit, while my brother joined the church.”

“I could not understand this change in me. Neither could my friends. I became discouraged and went west. A week ago, while I was in San Francisco, I got a letter from the doctor who performed the operation in the hospital. Here it is. It says: ‘In the panic during the explosion at the time of your operation, a nurse has confessed to me, she mixed your stomach and your brother's.’”

“I'm on my way back to Philadelphia to repudiate that stomach and make the doctors put it back where it belongs.”

“Go,” said the judge.

Rocks That Are Musical.

The “Ringling Rocks” near Pottstown, Pa., have been visited the past few months by many eminent geologists in an endeavor to explain the peculiar properties which cause the rocks to give off musical sounds when struck. William C. Richardson writes of them in the Technical World Magazine for March.

“The largest of the ‘stone gardens,’ as they are known locally, is at Nockamixon, in Bucks county, where there are three fields of these rocks, all near the foot of Haycock Mountain, 620 feet above the sea level. The largest of the fields covers an area of a quarter of a mile long, with an average width of 200 feet, while the other fields each cover about an acre and a quarter.

“When struck by a hammer the rocks, as they lie in their beds, produce four distinct tones, running upward from middle D on the piano, but it remained for the late William J. Buck for many years historian of Bucks county, to conceive of the idea of their possibilities as producers of melody and for Dr. J. J. Ott, of Pleasant Valley, to carry out the project. The latter selected a number of rocks, some of them weighing over 250 pounds, which he carefully tuned by chipping until he had a complete octave, from which he entertained friends by playing several familiar tunes, on one occasion being accompanied by a band. The clear, ringing tones of the rocks could plainly be heard above the notes of the horns.”

A description of considerable interest of this and other “gardens” of the sort follows with theories of the people and of scientific men regarding this natural phenomenon.

If you have no business of your own make it your business to keep your nose out of other people's business.

A GREAT UTILITY.

Nowadays business men turn to want advertising as a matter of course for a hundred small services. The householder uses it as naturally and inevitably as any other convenience of daily life.

Want advertising fills the “jobs” of the world with workers. It finds tenants for houses, apartments, lodgings. It “sells things.” It brings lesser and finder together. It introduces people whose interests are mutual—even if their guests are diverse.

Want advertising forges links of “interest” between all classes in the community. It is, indeed, the great utilitarian force in the small affairs and has grown into one of the great utilities of today.

From a little understood and little used force in business life, “want advertising” incidents of daily life.

A slackening in the fall in the river here is noticeable this morning, the whole fall for the last 48 hours being 1.6. From Saturday to Sunday the river fell .9 and from Sunday to Monday morning, .7. Business at the wharf was excellent today.

Four packets at the wharf this morning with the other activity on the river made the home port look like business. The Dick Fowler, Chattanooga, Buttorff and John S. Hopkins all had up steam and got away before noon.

The Dick Fowler had a good Monday morning business for Calto.

The Chattanooga left today for Chattanooga barring an unexpected corn trip up the Ohio river, having arrived from that port Saturday afternoon.

Rush orders were received by Captain Backster, of the Scimitar No. 2, and that steamer left today after coaling for Vicksburg. It will require six days to make the trip, as the Scimitar will not run at night.

John Austin, former patrol wagon driver left on the Scimitar as head mate. He will make the trip to Vicksburg and there leave the boat going to Gulfport, Miss., where he will be a boss over a gang of stevedores on the docks. Captain Nichols, of Calto, will be pilot to Vicksburg, where the government crew will take charge.

Repairs on the T. H. Davis are so advanced that that towboat will be run into the river Tuesday or Wednesday. The Maud Kilgore will come out immediately.

By March 1 many boats now laid up will be running in the Mississippi river trade. The Saffillo and Savannah in the St. Louis and Tennessee river trade will start out probably at that time. The first of the Eagle packets of the Leyhe fleet in winter quarters in the mouth of the Tennessee river will leave March 1. The magnificent new Alton Eagle will be the last to leave as the installation of the machinery will delay it. It's a lucky river that has this packet.

The Peters Leo arrived Saturday night at 9 o'clock and the Georgia Leg Sunday afternoon.

The Scotia left this morning for the Tennessee river after a tow of ties.

The Castalia went up the Ohio river to Smithland after a raft of ties this morning.

The John S. Hopkins arrived Sunday morning from Evansville and got away on time for that point this morning.

The Buttorff came in from Nashville last night and left at noon today for Clarksville.

The Mountaineer says that from the 18th to the 27th of this month unsettled and broken weather may be expected.

The City of Memphis will arrive tonight or early in the morning from the Tennessee river.

The Harvester passed down yesterday afternoon with 16 barges of coal for Memphis and Vicksburg.

The towboat Birmingham will come up from Jopha tomorrow and leave soon after for the Tennessee river after ties.

Another broken shaft was added to the list for 1907 Saturday at noon when the little Mary N. broke her shaft. While turning around in Clark's river the shaft snapped. It will mean a week or so off.

The Chattanooga News says:

Navigation has been opened between Knoxville and this city and Paducah, Ky. The John B. Lyle, a new boat, is being operated between Knoxville and Kingston by the Three Rivers company, of Knoxville. At Kingston freight bound for Knoxville or Chattanooga is transferred to the steamer Forrest, which runs between this city and Kingston. In this way freight bound for Paducah can be transferred from the Forrest to either the steamer Chattanooga or Joe Wheeler, which are making regular trips between this city and Paducah as announced in the Chattanooga News several days ago.

After returning from the scene of the explosion with those who were wounded in the Parker explosion on Tuesday, the John A. Patten resumed its trip down the river to Decatur, having on board a heavy cargo of miscellaneous freight for almost every landing between this city and Decatur.

The Patten has taken the place of the Joe Wheeler which left the local wharf today on the regular trip for Paducah.

Civil Service Employees Can Get More as Laborers.

Washington, Feb. 18. The indignation of the government officials against employees who will work for less than they are paid under the present civil service law is being expressed in a number of ways. One of the most striking is the resignation of one of the twenty-five letter carriers, the only one of the force, it is said, to take a day's leave from March 1. The resignation was given to the public ledger.

CHAPTER XIII.

THE best moments of a man's life are the moments when, strong in himself, he feels that the world lies before him. Gratiated ambition may be the summer, but anticipation is the ardent springtime of a man's career.

As Loder drove that night from Fleet street to Grosvenor square he realized this, though scarcely with any degree of consciousness, for he was not accomplished self analyst. But in a wave of feeling too vigorous to be denied he recognized his regained foothold—the step that lifted him at once from the pit to the pinnacle.

In that moment of realization he looked neither backward nor forward. The present was all sufficing. Difficulties might loom ahead, but difficulties had but one object—the testing and sharpening of a man's strength. In the first deep surge of egotistical feeling he almost rejoiced in Chilcote's weakness. The more Chilcote tangled the threads of his life the stronger must be the fingers that unraveled them. He was possessed by a great impatience. The joy of action was stirring in his blood.

Leaving the cab, he walked confidently to the door of Chilcote's house and inserted the key. Even in this small act there was a grain of individual satisfaction. Then very quietly he opened the door and crossed the hall. As he entered, a footman was rearranging the fire that burned in the big grate. Seeing the man, he halted.

"Where is your mistress?" he asked in unconscious repetition of his first question in the same house.

"The man looked up. 'She has just finished dinner, sir. She dined alone in her own room.' He glanced at Loder in the quick, incertain way that was noticeable in all the servants of the household when they addressed their master. Loder saw the look and wondered what depth of curiosity it betrayed, how much of insight into the domestic life that he must always be content to skim. For an instant the old resentment against Chilcote flared his exaltation, but he swept it angrily aside. Without further remark he began to mount the stairs.

Gaining the landing, he did not turn, as usual, to the door that shut off Chilcote's rooms, but moved onward down the corridor toward Eve's private sitting room. He moved slowly till the door was reached. Then he paused and lifted his hand. There was a moment's wait while his fingers rested on the handle; then a sensation he could not explain, a reticence, a reluctance to intrude upon this one precinct, caused his fingers to relax. With a slightly embarrassed gesture he drew back slowly and retraced his steps.

Once in Chilcote's bedroom, he walked to the nearest bell and pressed it. Renwick responded, and at sight of him Loder's feelings warmed with the same sense of fitness and familiarity that the great bed and somber furniture of the room had inspired.

But the man did not come forward as he had expected. He remained close to the door with a hesitation that was unusual in a trained servant. It struck Loder that possibly his stolidity had superseded Chilcote and that possibly Chilcote had been at no pains to conceal the expectation. The idea caused him to smile involuntarily.

"Come into the room, Renwick," he said. "It's uncomfortable to see you standing there. I want to know if Mrs. Chilcote has sent me any message about tonight."

Renwick studied him furtively as he came forward. "Yes, sir," he said. "Mrs. Chilcote said that the carriage was ordered for 10:15, and she hoped that would suit you." He spoke reluctantly, as if expecting a rebuke.

At the opening sentence Loder had turned aside, but now, as the man finished, he wheeled round again and looked at him closely with his keen, observant eyes.

"Look here," he said. "I can't have you speak to me like that. I may come down on you rather sharply when my nerves are bad, but when I'm myself I treat you—well, I treat you decently at any rate. You'll have to learn to discriminate. Look at me now." A thrill of risk and of rulership passed through him as he spoke. "Look at me now! Do I look as I looked this morning—or yesterday?"

"The man eyed him half stupidly, half timidly.

"Well," Loder insisted.

"Well, sir," Renwick responded, with some slowness, "you look the same and you look different—a healthier color, perhaps, sir, and the eye clearer." He grew more confident under Loder's half humorous, half insistent gaze.

"Now that I look closer, sir?"

Loder laughed. "That's it!" he said. "Now that you look closer. You'll have to grow observant. Observation is an excellent quality in a servant. When you come into a room in future, look first of all to me and take you one from that. Remember that serving a man with nerves is like serving two masters. Now you can go, and tell Mrs. Chilcote's maid that I shall be quite ready at a quarter past 10."

"Yes, sir. And after that?"

"Nothing further. I shan't want you again tonight." He turned away as he spoke and moved toward the great fire that was always kept alight in Chilcote's room. But as the man moved toward the door, Loder's back again. "Oh, one thing more Renwick! Bring me some sandwiches and a whisky." He remembered for the first time that he had eaten nothing since early afternoon.

A few minutes after 10 Loder left Chilcote's room, resolutely descended the stairs and took up his position in the hall. Resolution is a strong word to apply to such a proceeding, but something in his bearing, in the attitude of his shoulders and head, instinctively suggested it.

Five or six minutes passed, but he waited without impatience. Then at last the sound of a carriage stopping before the house roused him to lift his hand, and at the same instant Eve appeared at the head of the staircase.

She stood there for a second, looking down on him, her maid a pace or two behind holding her cloak. The picture she made struck upon his mind with something of a revelation.

On his first sight of her she had appealed to him as a strange blending of youth and self possession—a girl with a woman's clear perception of life. Later he had been drawn to study her in other respects—as a possible comrade and friend. Now for the first time he saw her as a power in her own world—a woman to whom no man could deny consideration. She looked taller for the distance between them, and the distinction of her carriage added to the effect. Her black gown was exquisite—soft as her black hair. Above her forehead was a cluster of splendid diamonds shaped like a coronet, and a band of the same stones encircled her neck. Loder realized in a glance that only the most distinguished of women could wear such ornaments and not have her beauty eclipsed. With a touch of the old awkwardness that had before assailed him in her presence, he came slowly forward as she descended the stairs.

"Can I help you with your cloak?" he asked, and as he asked it something like surprise at his own timidity crossed his mind.

"For a second Eve's glance rested on his face. Her expression was quite impassive, but as she lowered her lashes a faint gleam flickered across her eyes. Nevertheless, her answer, when it came, was studiously courteous.

"Thank you," she said, "but Marie will do all I want."

Loder looked at her for a moment, then turned aside. He was not hurt by her refusal. Rather, by an interesting experience of impressions, he was stirred by it. The pride that had refused Chilcote's help, and the self control that had refused it graciously, moved him to admiration. He understood and appreciated both by the light of personal experience.

"The carriage is waiting, sir," Renwick's voice broke in.

Loder nodded, and Eve turned to her maid. "That will do, Marie," she said. "I shall want a cup of chocolate when I get back, probably at 1 o'clock." She drew her cloak about her shoulders and moved toward the door. Then she paused and looked back. "Shall we start?" she asked quietly.

Loder, still watching her, came forward at once. "Certainly," he said, with unusual gentleness.

He followed her as she crossed the footpath, but made no further offer of help, and when the moment came he quietly took his place beside her in the carriage. His last impression as the horses wheeled round was of the open hall door—Chilcote in his somber livery and the maid in her black dress, both silhouetted against the dark background of the hall; then as the carriage moved forward smoothly and rapidly he leaned back in his seat and closed his eyes.

During the first few moments of the drive there was silence. To Loder there was a strange, new sensation in this companionship, so close and yet so distant. He was so near to Eve that the slight fragrant scent from her clothes might almost have belonged to his own. The impression was confusing, yet vaguely delightful. It was years since he had been so close to a woman of his own class, his own caste. He acknowledged the thought with a curious sense of pleasure. Involuntarily he turned and looked at her.

She was sitting very straight, her line profile cut clear against the carriage window, her diamonds glimmering in the light that flashed by them from the street. For a space the sense of unreality that had pervaded his first entrance into Chilcote's life touched him again; then another and more potent feeling rose to quell it. Almost involuntarily as he looked at her his lips parted.

"May I say something?" he asked.

Eve remained motionless. She did not turn her head, as most women would have done. "Say anything you like," she said gravely.

"Anything?" He bent a little nearer, filled again by the inordinate wish to dominate.

It seemed to him that her voice sounded forced and a little tired. For a moment he looked through the window at the passing lights; then slowly his gaze returned to her face.

"You look very beautiful tonight," he said. His voice was low and his manner unemotional, but his words had the effect he desired.

She turned her head, and her eyes met his in a glance of curiosity and surprise.

Slight as the triumph was, it thrilled him. The small scene with Chilcote's valet came back to him; his own per-

EXCESS CHARGES

CLAIMS FOR OVER $1,000,000 TO BE FILED.

Purpose is to Fight Discrimination in Rates on Cotton Goods Shipments.

Augusta, Ga., Feb. 18.—Claims for excess transportation charges aggregating over a million dollars will be filed with the interstate commerce commission at Washington on Monday by R. J. Southall, of Augusta, who represents five big trailing companies of New York, as follows: Chlusa and Japan Trading company, limited; American Trading company; A. Norden & company; Karberg & company; and Pearson, Daniel & company. The defendant companies are the Georgia railroad, Central of Georgia railway, Southern railway, Atlantic Coast Line, Atlanta and West Point, Western and Atlantic, Western Railway of Alabama, Charleston and Western Carolina, Columbia, Newberry and Laurens, Chesapeake and Ohio, Illinois Central, Louisville and Nashville, Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis, Seaboard Air Line, Mobile and Ohio, Texas and Pacific, Missouri, Kansas and Texas, Atchafson, Topeka and Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Union Pacific, Oregon Railroad and Navigation company, Oregon Short Line, Canadian Pacific Great Northern Steamship company and Occidental and Oriental Steamship company.

The main purpose of the claim is a fight against rate discrimination in the matter of cotton goods shipped from points in the south. The petition shows that from points in eight southern states to Chinese and Japanese ports the rate is $1.25 per hundred, while from New England cotton manufacturing centers it is eighty-five cents per hundred. The plaintiffs hope to have those rates equalized, as well as to recover money already paid. Cotton manufacturers here say that if favorable the decision will mean millions of dollars to the south. The south now has three-fourths of the oriental trade in cotton goods, and this is one of a series of moves on the part of manufacturers to bring about uniform conditions.

The ports mentioned in the petition through which it is alleged the rates are excessive are San Francisco, Seattle, Portland and Vancouver, to Tokyo, Shanghai and common oriental ports.

The Limit of Life.

The most eminent medical scientists are unanimous in the conclusion that the generally accepted limitation of human life is many years below the attainment possible with the advanced knowledge of which the race is now possessed. The critical period, that determines its duration, seems to be between 50 and 60; the proper care of the body during this decade cannot be too strongly urged; carelessness then being fatal to longevity. Nature's best helper after 50 is Electric Bitters, the scientific tonic medicine that revitalizes every organ of the body. Guaranteed by all druggists, 50c.

Where It Is Really Cold.

A Bangor man in his effort to describe the coldest place in the world spoke of a shed that was "too cold to keep wood in," and this was the limit until this correspondence came in from Mount Desert concerning the weather down there last week: "A fisherman of Otter Creek says a big codfish was so attracted by the warmth of a gasoline heater in his dory that it jumped into the boat and tried to wrap itself around the heater. It froze in a half circle, and the fisherman went to the barn to water his stock. He fell and upset the boat. Before he could step out of the water his boots froze to the floor. He had to take his boots off to get away."—Kennebec (Me.) Journal.

sonally moved him again to a reckless determination to make his own voice heard. Leaning forward, he laid his hand lightly on her arm.

"Eve," he said quickly—"Eve, do you remember?" Then he paused and withdrew his hand. The horses had slackened speed, then stopped altogether as the carriage fell into line outside Bramfoll House.

THE VALUE OF DOGS.

Fashions in the breeds of dogs, like in all things else, undergo change. That this is a fact is shown by the list of entries for the dog show in Madison Square Garden next week.

The great Dane is the most popular of the big dogs just now, the entry list for this year being 102, just twice as many as in 1897, while in 1887 there were only six. One of the peculiar features is the entire absence of mastiffs, for the first time in years. The falling off in popularity is by no means a new thing, for ten years ago only 10 entries were made, as against 27 in 1887 and that number twenty years ago was a good representation, considering the total number of dogs shown, which was far smaller than now.

The St. Bernard, too, was a more popular dog in past years, for in 1887 there were 98 entries, while in 1897 the total was 149, and this year it has dropped to 65. Newfoundlanders have almost held their own, averaging between 5 and 10 for the last twenty years.

Russian wolf-hounds have made themselves popular. The first one of the breed was shown at the Westminster Club show in 1889 in a miscellaneous class, and won first prize as a "Siberian bloodhound." The next year there were three in the same class, entered under their right name. Since then they have become popular for several years, the number being only 17 ten years ago. Tals year the number has run up to 82. Greyhounds, too, have gradually obtained more favor, for in 1887 there were 18, in 1897 27, and this year 45. The same is true of the foxhounds, for in 1887 there were 7, in 1897 18 and this year 17. Sporting spaniels have shown a steady increase in popularity. In 1897 75 were entered, in 1897 119 and this year 221.

Buildings have made good strides. In 1887 there were 22, in 1897 86, while the big entry of 193 has been reached this season. Bull terriers, too, have gained, the showing in 1887 being 29, and this year 114. French bulldogs made their first appearance in 1896, when there were 7 shown in regular classes, and they have steadily increased in number until this year the total is 134. Boston terriers have had a rapid rise in popularity. There were 7 shown at the Garden in 1896, classes having been made for the new breed, and the number has steadily increased with each year, until this year they lead all breeds, with the grand total of 321.

Poodles have come back again. There were only 16 in 1887, 91 in 1897, and then there was a falling off, but this year they have come up again, and 83 are on the list. Dachshunds have also steadily gained in popularity, for 11 were shown in 1887, 52 in 1897, while 65 are entered this year.

Pugs have lost their hold to a great extent. In 1896 there were 23, in 1897 22 and this year there are only 5. The Chow-Chows, who made their debut in the miscellaneous class in 1897, and until a couple of years ago did not grow in number, have this year reached a total of 48.

Dalmatians had their first regular classification in 1900, and until a couple of years ago the number shown was small. The breed is, however, increasing in favor with each year and next week 52 entries will be seen. Only three Pomeranians were shown in 1897, but the great present popularity is shown by the 115 entries for the exhibition.—New York Dispatch to Baltimore Sun.

CHARGES FALSE

Says Real Cause of Russian Defeat Was Lack of Patriotism Among Reserves.

Odessa, Feb. 18.—Gen. Kaulbars, governor general of Odessa, was interviewed here today by the correspondent of the Associated Press on the subject of charges brought against him by Gen. Kuropatkin in his book on the Russo-Japanese war. He said:

"Although the book has not yet been handed to me, I have had correspondence with Kuropatkin on the subject, in which I repudiate the charges and prove by documentary evidence that they are entirely false.

"On the eve of the battle of February 22, 1904, the Russians were camped between the Sha river and the Hun river. I submitted to Kuropatkin a plan, subsequently rejected, to jointly attack the Japanese from our strong intrenchments, the Japanese having none. The defeat was chiefly due to Kuropatkin's removing my reserves to re-enforce our left, thus running into a trap of the Japanese whose successful demonstration advanced or their right effected the desired concentration of our troops on our left. My forces consequently were inadequate to repulse the flanking movements of Nogai's Port Arthur. Moreover, my army was intrenched with 180 guns for an attack on Sandepp, when Kuropatkin, instead ordered me to oppose Nogai, whom with his reserves he could easily have beaten.

"On February 27 my army effectively covered the retreat of the other armies. It was humanly impossible to do more in save the battle, in which I lost 26,000 men."

In conclusion, Gen. Kaulbars pointed out that the real causes of the Russian defeat was the lack of patriotism and the revolutionary ideas with which the reserves were imbued, and the activity of the Chinese hand in obstructing the rear.

This pouch stove-feed assures a steady, even heat

A stove-top hot—all over—a steady even heat—are things appreciated by every housewife.

The difficulty with the ordinary stove is that the fuel is fed under the lids only—making two separate pyramids of fire—and an unevenly heated stove-top.

Buck's stoves have extra large pouch feeds—allowing an even distribution of fuel—the entire length of the fire-box. The pouch feed also serves as a broiling door.

Reasons—both of them—why you should own a Buck's stove. But there are many more good reasons. Let us tell you of them—and about our terms and prices—today.

A dollar down and a dollar a week will buy one of these splendid stoves. You surely can't afford to miss this chance. Take advantage of it today.

NO SWOLLEN HEAD

Affects German Emperor Following His Victory.

Berlin, Feb. 18.—In a statement made to your correspondent outlining the policy of the German government following its victory in the recent elections, Prince Von Buelow, the chancellor, sets at rest the fears which have been held in other European countries that, flushed by this success, Kaiser William might be disposed to meddle unpleasantly in world politics.

In his statement Prince Von Buelow says: "It is entirely incorrect to suppose that the result of the recent elections will produce a tendency to an aggressive foreign policy on the part of Germany. If the government entertained such intentions the financial estimates, which will be submitted to the reichstag after the opening next week, would have been augmented for this purpose. As it is, the estimates will be submitted practically in the form in which they were prepared before the elections. The emperor has no warlike intentions as erroneously sup-

SCHOOL POLITICS HALTS PROFESSOR

Professor Cheek, of Fulton Hesitates

Gives Out Interview in Leader, Correcting Impression That He Is Applicant.

FULTON PEOPLE PREFER HIM

The Fulton Leader corrects an impression about Professor Cheek of that city, as follows:

The Paducah Sun says:

"Prof. J. C. Cheek, superintendent of the Fulton public school system, is an applicant for the position of superintendent of the Paducah schools.
Prof. Cheek made his application in person."

The Sun erred in the above statement, inasmuch as Prof. Cheek has not made application, in person or otherwise for the position.

Prof. Cheek has many friends in Paducah and they are urging him to make application. To a Leader representative Mr. Cheek made the following statement:

"For several months friends in Paducah have been urging me to apply for the position of superintendent of the public schools and I have been seriously considering the proposition. In my pocket I now have a letter from a prominent member of the Paducah school board, in which the writer urges me to make application. To tell the truth I am a little afraid of the proposition. My friends inform me that too much politics is mixed up in the Paducah schools.
The members of the board seem unable to put aside their political differences."

"Under the circumstances I am undecided what course to pursue but I have not as yet applied for the position."

Prof. Cheek is a fine educator and has brought the Fulton schools up out of the "land of Egypt." When he assumed charge of the local schools they were in a state of chaos but by rigid discipline Mr. Cheek has made the Fulton schools the best and most orderly in the state.

Prof. Cheek should be offered sufficient inducement to remain in Fulton as it will be extremely difficult to find a successor who will measure up to his high standard.

FRENCH CABINET IS NEAR FALL.

Clash Over Plan to End the Church War May Bring Collapse.

Paris, Feb. 18.—Just as an agreement in the matter of the terms upon which the churches of France could be leased to the Roman Catholic clergy was about to be reached between the representatives of M.
Briand, minister of education, and Cardinal Richier, archbishop of Paris—an agreement involving a settlement of the most acute phase of the religious conflict—a ministerial crisis has loomed up on the horizon, and it is now doubtful whether Premier Clemenceau's cabinet will survive the coming week.

The premier left a sick bed today in order to go to the Elysee Palace where a cabinet meeting under the presidency of President Fallieres was being held, in order to insist that the cabinet should not assume alone the responsibility of authorizing the form of contracts negotiated. The premier doubted that a parliamentary majority would approve these contracts, and in any event he insisted that parliament must be given an opportunity to express its opinion on them before the government finally committed itself.

It is understood M. Briand took sharp issue with his chief after the adjournment of the cabinet meeting; it is declared that he intends to submit his views to his colleagues and that on Tuesday either he will resign or M. Clemenceau will resign.
